Huawei E5330Bs-2 - How to Detect and Unlock Huawei.Molecular engineering of the baculovirus Trichoplusia ni cell death suppressor P35 to enhance its ability to suppress the plant cell death response. The baculovirus death factor P35, which was first isolated from Trichoplusia ni by complementation of a lethal yeast Saccharomyces cerevisiae mutant (Invitrogen-Biochemicals), was previously shown to inhibit programmed cell death in insect cells. Here we report the design, expression and in vitro properties of a fusion protein consisting of the P35 protein and a plant P35 homolog from Arabidopsis thaliana (AtP35), which we designated P35At. The artificial P35 protein (P35At) was expressed as a soluble product in Escherichia coli and as a fusion protein in Trichoplusia ni cells using a recombinant baculovirus (AcNPV). The product was immunoprecipitated with anti-P35At and anti-GST antibodies and detected by Western blotting using anti-P35 and anti-GST antibodies. Furthermore, we confirmed that the P35At fusion protein could suppress the plant cell death response by transiently expressing the fusion protein in tobacco protoplasts using a recombinant AcNPV. The P35At protein remained as a dimer under both reducing and non-reducing conditions in vitro, in contrast to the P35 protein, which is a monomer under both conditions. The dimeric structure of the P35At protein was suggested by its differential cytotoxicity on insect cells, on yeast cells, and
